Engaging Scholar-Practitioners in the Study, Research, and Practice of Leading Positive

Antioch University's PhD in Leadership and Change is a distinctive doctoral program that combines faculty-mentored, individualized learning with a challenging interdisciplinary core curriculum. The focus of the program is on understanding and leading change.

At the heart of study is the student's own practice in professional life. Our goal is to educate professionals from a wide range of fields and in a variety of positions to be reflective practitioners, principled leaders, and engaged researchers. We support our students and alumni to be bold voices in efforts to further social, economic, environmental, and racial justice.

- ◆ Graduation rates that far exceed the national average
- ◆ Internationally-renowned faculty
- ◆ Award-winning dissertations
- ◆ Live and work anywhere and earn your PhD

An INNOVATIVE & FLEXIBLE Program Offered by a Distinctive University

Antioch University's historic mission provides the foundation for the program's innovative spirit and distinguishing characteristics, which include:

- ▶ An educational model designed for working adults that emphasizes short-term intensive residencies held on Antioch University campuses
- ▶ An interdisciplinary approach to the study of, research about, and practice in leading change, drawing heavily from education, psychology, management, and the social sciences
- ▶ Virtual learning experiences between residencies support student progress and collaboration
- ▶ A robust learning community from around the globe representing a wide range of professions

Faculty who care about Student Learning

- ▶ Intensive faculty mentoring and engagement with students
- ▶ Extensive faculty written narrative evaluations of student work
- ▶ Experienced faculty who are leading practitioners in their fields

Access to Full Library and Other Student Services

- ▶ Comprehensive academic services, such as a graduate research librarian who believes in personalized attention and extensive digital library resources
- ▶ One-stop student services that are high quality, personalized, and fully accessed from wherever a student lives and works
- ▶ Doctoral-level writing support with one-on-one coaching as well as writing workshops the first year through alumni engagement

Study a Common Core and an Individualized Curriculum

- ▶ Common learning areas—Leadership and Change and Inquiry and Research Skills—are addressed through individual and collaborative learning processes
- ▶ Individualized curriculum focuses on students' areas of dissertation-related study
- ▶ High value placed on rigorous inquiry and application of theory as exemplified by an original dissertation and a real-world change project

WELCOME TO ILA 2022

Welcome to ILA's 24th Annual Global conference. We are honored to host this illustrious group virtually and in the United States capital, just a short walk from the White House.

I would like to thank my phenomenal program co-chairs, Julia Storberg-Walker and Ina Gjikondi. They have been fabulous teammates! I am especially excited about the conference theme Julia and Ina developed for our leadership journey this year — Wisdom in Times of Crisis.

Information has never been more readily available and at our fingertips. With that abundance, comes an illusion of knowledge. We take information at face value, neither challenged nor questioned. True wisdom only comes when we exercise our good judgement, rooted in our experience, knowledge, and willingness to wonder — Is it so? Approaching the world with wonder nourishes our curiosity and our persistence to challenge old beliefs and ask the right questions.

We will spend the days of the conference together, virtually and in person, wondering together as we explore wisdom across topics such as leadership in a world of misinformation, leadership and international conflict, and leading in a global economy. Wise leadership is the only answer to solving the biggest leadership challenges facing our world today.

The ILA is at the forefront of this critically important time in our history; never has ILA's purpose — connecting leadership worldwide for a just and thriving future — felt so important. How we collectively educate, train, and support wise leaders across our generations will have profound significance in our world. Echoing the words of U.S. President Joe Biden, we are in a battle for the soul of our leaders.

Thank you for all you do and for being with us! I look forward to co-creating with you our path to leadership wisdom.

WELCOME TO ILA 2022

Welcome to ILA's 24th Annual Global conference! We are inspired by the rich and diverse leadership community that is gathering to co-create new visions for Wisdom in Times of Crisis.

Over a year ago we began working with a small team of accomplished leadership practitioners and scholars to imagine what the 2022 theme might be. Through a series of facilitated conversations, it became apparent that there was a shared foundation anchoring all our unique perspectives — we discovered our collective yearning for wisdom.

Wisdom offers us exciting possibilities to see opportunities in crises, paths forward in complex systems and unpredictable dynamics, and wholeness in times of fracturing. Wisdom is creative inner work with outward manifestations that allow possibilities for systems flourishing. Wisdom is deep listening, or what some call 'with-nessing,' in community. Wisdom is more than intellect and cognition — it is a way of being and relating to the world and to oneself that heals, brings joy, and offers compassion and dignity to all.

In today's historical moment, we see this year's gathering as an invitation into the inquiry of how wisdom might catalyze transformation in global systems contributing to environmental, social, economic, and political crises. Washington, D.C., in particular, is uniquely positioned to hold space for such dialogue, symbolizing the preciousness of democracy in the U.S. and globally and calling for a new way of leading together as a collective and diverse whole. The richness of such a playground opens up possibilities to imagine, co-create, and practically design new leadership narratives for the future. Ultimately, we hope that the many diverse offerings in this playground will inspire each one of us to live into the practices, behaviors, skills, and ways of being wise leaders.

In the words believed to have been written by Rumi, a renowned 13th century Persian poet, we invite you to pause, listen, inquire, and go inwards: "Yesterday, I was clever, so I wanted to change the world. Today, I am wise, so I am changing myself." Questions that might generate new insight about your personal wisdom are:

- How am I being wise today?
- What is my unique form of wisdom?
- How do I enact wisdom in my leadership? In my practice, teaching, or research?

We hope the conference will inspire, cultivate, affirm, and embrace your unique leadership wisdom and offer you new possibilities for catalyzing leadership wisdom in your communities and organizations. Enjoy!

HOW CAN RESEARCH TRANSFORM THE FUTURE OF LEADERSHIP?

At the Center For Creative Leadership, we're committed to improving leadership by merging innovation and research. No matter how much or how quickly the world changes — how automated or disrupted work and life become — one fact remains: outstanding leaders create a positive path forward for us all.

Our research team's focus is to create new knowledge that advances our field and positively transforms the way leaders, organizations, and societies confront the most difficult challenges of the 21st century.

THE WORLD IS EXPERIENCING MULTIPLE CRISES A RESULT OF LEADERSHIP FAILURE

A global poll reveals

“Indifference and apathy are the biggest obstacles to change . . . Faced with indifferent leaders and seemingly intractable problems, global citizens are calling for a new kind of leader”

(Milken Institute & The Harris Poll, 2021)

WHEN YOU CONSIDER

- The actions those called leaders failed to take to prevent SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19), after warnings from the SARS epidemic in 2004.
- IMF estimated $11 trillion in direct costs, $24 trillion in lost output due to the pandemic. John Hopkins University of Medicine reports over 6 million deaths.
- The fall of the Afghan Government.
- The ousting of the President in Sri Lanka.
- Other crises around the world and our cities.

There is a need for a paradigm shift

MEMBER COMMUNITY LEADERS

ILA's Member Communities super charge the member experience and provide targeted networking opportunities. Each community is led by a spirited group of volunteers who work closely with ILA's staff to guide programming of interest for their constituencies. Visit <https://ilaglobalnetwork.org/member-communities/> to learn more about their work.

While many serve on Member Community working groups and committees, we would like to thank and recognize those core member volunteers who serve in leadership roles.

Jepson means leadership.

THEY CAME TO THE JEPSON SCHOOL OF LEADERSHIP STUDIES to learn about leadership. Today, they lead organizations, effect change, and serve their communities. In short, Jepson leaders succeed.

Since opening its doors 30 years ago as the nation's first undergraduate school of leadership studies, the Jepson School has been leading the way. We look forward to leading the way for the next 30.

THIRTIETH 30 ANNIVERSARY

MINDFULNESS AT ILA GLOBAL = DEEPER REFLECTION, MEANING & CONNECTION

Attendees are invited to join special mindfulness & connection sessions during both the online and in-person portions of the conference.

| MINDFULNESS & CONNECTION

Pause for grounding. Re-connect with yourself, reflect on your experiences, and distill sparks of insight in these two sessions. You are invited to attend one or both sessions. The sessions will include a lightly guided awareness practice as well as interaction with other participants. The guides have deep experience with meditation in various cultural traditions.

| WELCOME CEREMONY HONORING OUR COLLECTIVE WISDOM

Thursday, 13 October | 15:30-16:30 EDT (In Person)

Guides Erin Dixon (Gizhagatte), Julia Storberg-Walker, & Kathryn Goldman Schuyler

As you arrive at the conference, we invite you to pause and connect with our shared inner wisdom, nourished by Indigenous traditions for gathering at a new place. Begin your conference experience by inviting awareness, reflection, and connection with one another and the energies of Mother Earth.

This ceremony will support us in connecting deeply with the theme of the conference, so it will flow within us and through the other sessions we attend. Each of the Mindfulness & Connection sessions are intended to create space for bringing silence, heart, mind, and action together in our lives.

The battle for wisdom in leaders

Leadership is defined by followers, not by academics or persons in power. In democracies followers choose their leaders, more so than in corporate life and certainly than in dictatorships. These public battles have changed dramatically due to the Digital Civil Revolution, giving more power and influence to citizens, as I analyzed in my book 'Civil Leadership as the Future of Leadership'. In the end these battles and leadership choices not only show the vision of the people on public and political leadership, but it will also influence the general opinion, in all contexts, about the definition of and preferences in modern leadership. So we, researchers and practitioners, can observe if these powerful followers by choosing their leaders acknowledge and prefer wisdom in these leaders and especially, if any, what kind of wisdom.

Actual battles for public leadership that can be very telling, are Zelensky versus Putin, Biden versus Trump and Tuss versus Sinak. In my book I analyzed Macron I (France), Zelensky (Ukraine) and Jacinda Ardern (New Zealand) as examples of the new kind of leaders that arise thanks to a better and more authentic use of the modern ICT- and media technology, acknowledging this new power of citizens.

At the Round Table I am hosting at the ILA conference in Washington (Saturday, October 15, 16:25-17:40 EDT) I hope to learn from your insights in this ongoing battle for (public) leadership and how wisdom in leaders is defined and stimulated. Will this modern battle lead to the right, wise civil leadership?

Steven P.M. de Waal, PhD, is a strategic consultant, entrepreneur and chairman of multiple non-executive boards. He combines his extensive experience in the board-room with research and academic reflection. Dr. De Waal's writing focuses on strategic thinking, practical wisdom for executives and social entrepreneurship. He has published many books and articles, and he has given numerous interviews and lectures for mainly an executive audience. In 2019 he was invited to lecture about the book 'Civil Leadership as the Future of Leadership' from New Zealand, to Canada, Silicon Valley and many countries in Europe.

His dissertation (2014) conceptualized civil leadership and researched civil leaders' values patterns in the different private-sector contexts.

He launched one of the first think tanks in the Netherlands, Public SPACE, which aims to stimulate active citizenship and social entrepreneurship.

'Civil Leadership as the Future of Leadership' by Steven P.M. de Waal is available as e-book and paperback on Amazon.com and in local (online) bookstores worldwide. A summary can be obtained at www.publicspace.eu

Cambridge Elements

Leadership

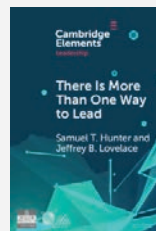

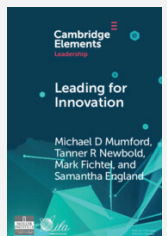

This series is multi- and inter-disciplinary, and will have broad appeal for leadership courses in Schools of Business, Education, Engineering, Public Policy, and in the Social Sciences and Humanities. In addition to the scholarly audience, Elements will appeal to professionals involved in leadership development and training. The series features quick turnaround and publication (within 12 weeks following acceptance) – critical for attracting attention to “cutting-edge” topics in leadership.

The Cambridge Elements in Leadership is published in partnership with the International Leadership Association (ILA) and the Møller Institute, Churchill College in the University of Cambridge.

Leading for Innovation

Leadership Actions to Enhance Follower Creativity

Creativity, the generation of novel and useful ideas, and innovation, the transformation of these ideas into new products, processes, and services, are both critical for the long-term viability, profitability, and growth of organizations.

There Is More Than One Way To Lead

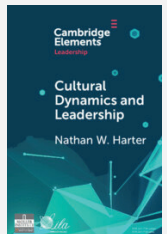

The Charismatic, Ideological, And Pragmatic (CIP) Theory Of Leadership

The charismatic, ideological, and pragmatic (CIP) theory of leadership has emerged as a novel framework for thinking about the varying ways leaders can influence followers. The theory is based on the principle of equifinality, or the notion that there are multiple pathways to the same outcome.

Cultural Dynamics and Leadership

An Interpretive Approach

The intersection of leadership and culture is undertheorized. This Element looks behind familiar titles in leadership at materials from anthropology, sociology, and history to gain a more nuanced understanding of culture. Of particular relevance is an interpretive approach, elaborated in the works of Simmel, Cassirer, Ortega y Gasset, and Gadamer.

Leading the Future of Technology

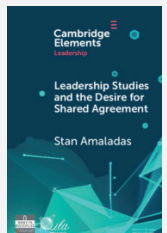

The Vital Role of Accessible Technologies

There is presently a view that accessible technologies offer an inclusive and humanistic expression of technology. They do. But that is not all. Accessible technologies offer more than this: they contain within them lessons on transformational leadership. Through examining six case studies the reader will begin to interpret these accessible technologies as expressions of leadership.

Leadership Studies and the Desire for Shared Agreement

A Narrative Inquiry

Beginning with the belief that the study of leadership belongs to all and to no one in particular, the author offers twenty-seven stable and unchanging elements for the study of leadership, and collects them under four themes: context, shared purpose, language, and human agency.

A GRASSROOTS LEADERSHIP AND ARTS FOR SOCIAL CHANGE PRIMER

for Educators, Organizers,
Activists & Rabble-Rousers

Edited by Susan J. Erenrich and Debra DeRuyver

A much-needed guide to nourish the grassroots by someone who's been doing this for quite a long time. Susie Erenrich has given us a gift that will help build the next generation of leaders and activists. She understands that we must begin with art and culture if we want to stand a chance at changing hearts and minds.

— Andy Shallal, CEO and Founder Busboys and Poets

As a longtime artist and activist, I'm delighted to welcome this more than timely book that puts it all together. There's a lifetime of wisdom in its pages.

— John McCutcheon, Folk Musician, Activist, and Author

What Susie Erenrich and Debra DeRuyver have done in creating this anthology is give the world a most precious gift. For those of us who have and who continue to fight the good fight towards a more just and humane world, they offer us a dance, a song, a visual journey down memory lane inclusive of all its joy and heartache for all the successes and setbacks. They offer new and emerging organizers and rabble rousers a guide to what has come before so that they may learn what has worked and what some of the pitfalls are to avoid. This anthology reminds us to never forget to sing our song, dance our love, paint our struggles and dreams, and write and play our story.

— Susan McKeivitt, PhD, Author of What Keeps Them Going: Factors that Sustain US Women's Life-Long Peace and Social Justice Activism

A pathfinder and profound work of great heart and hope, paving the way in social change.

— Carolyn Hester, 60s Folksinger Songwriter

For grassroots organizers, this book is a collection of the works of masters, works to turn to and learn from so that people can go out and lead social change, show us a different world, and help us enact that different world.

— Steven S. Taylor, Playwright and Professor of Leadership and Creativity, Worcester Polytechnic Institute Business School

I am thrilled by the range of contributors to this volume, both those whose work I know and those who I have yet to meet. Hailing from theater, song, visual arts, poetry, and other mediums, from across the globe, they are important sources for all of us who embrace both art and social justice.

— Jan Cohen-Cruz, Freelance Writer/Researcher and Faculty Member, Performance Creation MA, Touchstone Theater/Moravian University

Whether you're involved in community theatre, socially conscious music, cultural organizing, grassroots leadership development, community building, direct action organizing, politics, resistance movements, or any of the many ways in which we use the arts to work towards a gentler, kinder, more just world, this book will be a valued lifetime friend.

— Si Kahn, Singer-Songwriter, Founder of Grassroots Leadership, and Cofounder of folkVote

A fearless exploration into what it means to be a leader of social change through the arts.

Passionate and unapologetic – exactly the way art should be!

— Professor Jenna Ward, Coventry University

If anyone thinks the arts – or culture, broadly defined – are peripheral to social activism and change, this collection of essays is the antidote. The emphasis is on leadership and direct action, aimed at working artists, activists, and educators. The focus is grassroots because all politics, including the politics of struggle, is local. The sensibility is rabble rousing, as today it should be. A combination of Saul Alinsky meets Paulo Freire, this book is timely and essential.

— Kevin Avruch, Henry Hart Rice Professor of Conflict Resolution Emeritus, Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter School for Peace and Conflict Resolution, George Mason University

As a life-long educator, organizer, activist, and rabble-rouser, I was delighted to see this guide to the work we do appear in an era where these tasks are more imperative than ever before. It's an inspiring and heartening read, just the thing to sum up long years of hard work and propel new activists along their own paths of action and reflection.

— Ken Hammond, New Mexico State University; Answer Coalition

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT CASE COMPETITION

Thank you to our conference sponsors the Julie Ann Wrigley Global Futures Laboratory at Arizona State University for sponsoring the undergraduate division of this event and to the Jepson School of Leadership Studies at the University of Richmond for sponsoring the graduate division of this event.

Organized by the Leadership Education Member Community, the yearly case competition brings together teams of students to face-off in an event where they analyze and develop a specific set of strategic recommendations that address key aspects of a real world case involving a contemporary leadership issue pertaining to one of six UN Sustainable Development Goals: SDG#1 No Poverty, SDG#2 Zero Hunger, SDG#3 Good Health and Well-being, SDG#4 Quality Education, SDG#5 Gender Equality, and SDG#13 Climate Action. The winning team from each division (graduate and undergraduate) receives $1,000 USD. Conference attendees are invited to attend the finalist presentations via Zoom on Thursday 20 October to engage and support this emerging generation of contributors to the field. The Influence of Mindfulness on Ethical Leadership: A Study of Buddhist Mindfulness Practices Among Organizational Leaders in Thailand

Sutamchai will share her research on alternative approaches to develop ethical leaders, other than a compliance-based approach. Her research explores how Buddhist mindfulness practices can influence ethical values and behavior by examining how executive leaders across various Thai organizations have applied and integrated Buddhist mindfulness practices into their leadership role.

Commentator: Jessica Flanigan, Associate Professor of Leadership Studies and Philosophy, Politics, Economics and Law & Richard L. Morrill Chair in Ethics & Democratic Values, Jepson School of Leadership Studies, University of Richmond

The ILA is pleased to partner with the Jepson School of Leadership Studies at the University of Richmond on the Fredric M. Jablin Doctoral Dissertation Award. This award is given annually to a scholar whose doctoral dissertation research, while on any topic and from any discipline, demonstrates substantial insights and implications for the study of leadership. The award was established to honor and celebrate the life of Dr. Fredric M. Jablin (1952-2004). Recipients are honored during the conference and invited to give a talk on their work at ILA's global conference. The Call for Submissions to the 2023 Fredric M. Jablin Award will be available online in early 2023.

Investigating Boundary Conditions for Shared Leadership – Team Performance Relationship: A Team Leadership Coordination Perspective

Shared leadership is believed to be beneficial for team effectiveness. Researchers, however, have not always found positive effects. We suggest that scholarly attention should not merely focus on optimizing team input for shared leadership, but also considers leaders' coordination during shared leadership. The present research identifies expertise recognition accuracy and task-knowledge coordination as important leaders' coordination contingencies that strengthen the effects of shared leadership on team performance. Our study helps resolve theoretical controversies about whether shared leadership influences team performance and provides empirical and practical insights into how leadership coordination can drive higher team performance during shared leadership.

The ILA is pleased to partner with the Center for Creative Leadership (CCL) on the Kenneth E. Clark Student Research Award. CCL is a top-ranked, global provider of executive education. Founded in 1970 as a nonprofit, CCL helps clients around the world to cultivate creative leadership – the capacity to achieve more than imagined by thinking and acting beyond boundaries. The award is named in honor of the distinguished scholar and former Chief Executive Officer of CCL and recognizes unpublished student papers on leadership or leadership development. Recipients are honored during the conference and invited to give a talk on their work at ILA's global conference. The Call for Submissions to the 2022 Kenneth E. Clark award will be available in early 2022.

MOST PUBLISHABLE LEADERSHIP EDUCATION PAPER AWARD

David A. Jarrett, Ed.D., is an Assistant Professor at the Henry W. Bloch School of Management, University of Missouri – Kansas City. His research focuses on how leaders and participants at all levels in organizations can contribute to strategic management in ways that benefit all stakeholders and operate consistently with democratic values. Jarrett received his doctorate in Human and Organizational Learning from the George Washington University, and holds an MBA from the Darden School of Business, University of Virginia, and a BA in Journalism from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Previously he worked for more than 25 years in international organizations, most recently in senior HR roles for a Swiss multinational manufacturer and an international not-for-profit in the financial sector.

Promoting Wisdom in Professional Graduate Leadership Students: A Book Evaluation Group Project

Every year, large volumes of new information offer to help leadership students become better leaders. As some information has little scholarly foundation, leadership educators face the challenge of pointing students toward well supported ideas and away from poorly supported ideas. During an intervention in an MBA leadership course, 116 student teams critically evaluated recent books on leadership. Results suggest acceptable interest in the assignment and numerous examples of insights where students integrated — or challenged — new content relative to research-based course concepts and personal experiences. With further development, the principles in this paper will contribute to developing wisdom through leadership education.

The ILA is pleased to partner with SAGE Publishing on the Most Publishable Leadership Education Paper Award. The award recognizes the top ranked leadership education paper submitted during the ILA global conference call for proposals process.

GUIDE TO SESSION FORMATS

Knowing the format of a concurrent session you're interested in is key to understanding what to expect from the session. The stream can also provide helpful information in determining the session's focus and target audience.

CONCURRENT SESSION PRESENTATION FORMATS

The ILA uses the following definitions to create shared expectations between presenters and attendees.

CONVERSATION WITH

Come ready to ask your questions during these Q&A style sessions with leadership luminaries.

PANEL

An informed discussion and/or debate on a topic by panelists with contrasting or complementary points of view, moderated by a chairperson, with time reserved for audience participation, questions, and comments. Film Panels also include showing clips or short films.

PRESENTATION(S)

A stand-alone presentation or multiple presentations that were individually accepted and grouped together by the program team into a session focused broadly on a theme or approach. The session chair introduces each presentation, keeps time, and facilitates the question and answer portion.

SYMPOSIUM

Individual papers/presentations that were submitted together as a wholistic session exploring a common subject. Chairs frame the session, introduce presenters, keep time, and help move the conversation along. Commentators, if listed, moderate questions to create a rich discussion among presenters and attendees.

WORKSHOP

Rooted in audience participation and active learning, half or more of the time is spent on experiential learning and innovative, interactive participation focused on learning a new skill, methodology, or technique. While this looks a little different in a virtual environment, facilitators may utilize things like small breakout rooms, white boards, polls, and other interactive virtual conference features.

SESSION STREAMS

All sessions have a stream corresponding to an ILA member community or a topic of interest to the conference.

OTHER FORMATS

INTERACTIVE ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSION

Interactive Roundtable Discussions are small group discussions on a topic of common interest facilitated by an individual or team. The organizer frames the topic and then facilitates a discussion with participants. After 23 minutes, participants have the opportunity to move to another roundtable or remain where they are to continue the conversation.

POSTER

A visual display of research, projects, papers, or programs. During a Hosted Poster Session, posters will be staffed by the presenter(s).

INTERACTIVE ROUNDTABLES AND POSTERS SESSION

Enjoy beverages and hearty snacks in the Independence Ballroom while you sit in on engaging roundtable discussions and meet with poster presenters to discuss posters, ask questions, and provide feedback. Emerging Scholars Research Consortium participants have also been invited to participate. See the list of ESRC posters in the previous session.

Interactive Roundtable Discussions

Interactive Roundtable Discussions are small group discussions on a topic of common interest facilitated by an individual or team. The organizer frames the topic and then facilitates a discussion with participants at the table. Every ~23 minutes, a bell rings and participants have the opportunity to move to another roundtable or remain where they are to continue the conversation.
